THE BEST OF THE TOYOTA FJ RANGE

FJ25 (1962–1968)

The 25 was manufactured under license in Brazil with the US Willys Jeep as an obvious inspiration. It's the grandfather of the FJ line. Restored: $10,000 - $80,000

FJ40 HARD TOP (1960–1984)

Presented here is the 1974-only factory color of olive green, the short-wheel base 40 came with a removable hard top and 4-speed manual transmission. Restored: $40,000 - $100,000

FJ40 SOFT TOP (1960–1984)

With its open-air configuration and fold-down windshield, this was the quintessential go-anywhere automobile. Riched armies seemed to like it, too. Restored: $10,000 - $100,000

FJ43 SOFT TOP (1960–1984)

This medium-wheel base model was designed to transport cargo and people. It was offered in both two-door hard top and came as soft top. Restored: $60,000 - $120,000

FJ45 PICKUP (1963–1967)

The long-wheel base pickup version of the 45 was the mule of the FJ range. Ranchers and farmers couldn't get enough of it. Restored: $60,000 - $100,000

FJ45 WAGON (1963–1967)

The super-rare 45 wagon was a transition model linking the 45 and 55. Its front end retained the iconic design, but its body pointed toward the future. Restored: $80,000 - $120,000

FJ55 (1968–1979)

The 55's long-wheel base, cargo capacity, and legendary reliability made it an off-road adventure vehicle without peer. Restored: $60,000 - $120,000

FJ60 (1981–1987)

This behind-the-wheel (and pop-overhead parking) model was equipped with more mod than any previous FJ. Today, it's a classic. Restored: $10,000 - $100,000
